Exploring Horizons

Amsterdam

When we went to Amsterdam, the bus dropped us off at a big market and we walked around for a while. After that we had lunch and walked by the museums to the 'IAMSTERDAM' sculpture where we took lots of pictures. Our teachers dropped us off in the centre of Amsterdam and we had free time for shopping and dinner. We had to be back at 17.30 and we had a great walk through the red light district. Back at the central station our teachers gave us some more free time which we used to have a nice cup of tea. We left Amsterdam at 18.45 and our bus driver put on a movie. After the long trip everyone was tired and slept in the bus. It was a lovely day.

Met the mayor

The mayor told us that the key to success is to be able to speak another language when you're going to study in a foreign country.

Nunhems zaden

Nunhems Zaden is a company which makes seeds to make our vegetables. During our visit we learnt that it's important to communicate with people outside of your own department. So you can get the best results. The company has lots of offices all over the world so it's really important to know a foreign language. We enjoyed our visit and learned a lot about seeds and DNA.

Fontys Venlo

We had a great lesson about the borders around Roermond and one about the stereotypes in the world. Because everyone thinks we all smoke weed in the Netherlands, another example is that every single English person drinks tea. It's wrong to have stereotypes but we really enjoyed it. At Fontys they taught us that it's important to learn something about other cultures to be successful in your life. Because if you work at a foreign company you learn how to communicate with people, no one acts the same because in Asia it's normal to just stand still and do your presentation but in the Netherlands we call that boring and rather have someone jumping around and showing us some video's.

Outside of school

Outside of school we spent a lot of time laughing together and really enjoying the Dutch culture.
